

Alex & Charli

Hi All! We are Alex and Charli. We have been together for 11 years and were married in June of 2017. Life has presented us with many blessings and adventures, from European road trips to purchasing our dream home and opening a café in a small, quiet town. It has certainly been an amazing journey.

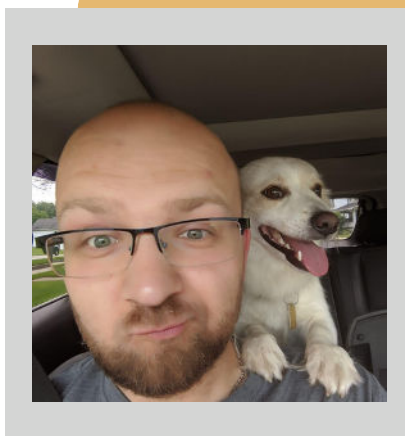

As a couple, we enjoy spending time with family and friends, seeing the world and setting goals for our future. Alex is currently a full time 4th grade math and science teacher. Charli is a Registered Nurse, currently working on his Nurse Practitioners License. They both take turns running the Cafe up the street.

We both knew we wanted to be parents early on. Alex being severely Type A has been working on this process for over 8 years. Alex always wanted to be a dad to share the same kind of love and support he received. Charli just wants to spoil them rotten and share the same traveling adventures he loves and cherishes.

Alex

Alex is on his 15th year teaching. He adores his students and loves being a huge part of his community.

He volunteers a lot in his small town and donates a lot of time and effort in community events.

Alex is a very active person. From creating Science Experiments to working on new food items for the Cafe, he always has something to do.

Alex loves family time and it made it all too clear to him why he wanted to be a parent. Quality family time is very important.

Charli

Charli has been a nurse for over ten years. Charli is definitely the comedic one in the relationship and has a witty sense of humor.

Charli is much more laid back and enjoys relaxing. He loves vacations and makes sure Alex takes time to enjoy them as well. Charli's cars are his pride and joy.

Charli loves close relationships with his friends and family. He likes having time to just enjoy Alex's company but he also loves enjoying one on one time with his friends.

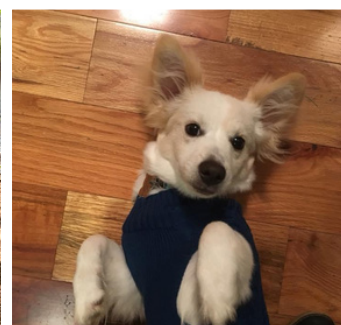

Home

Alex & Charli love their Victorian Home. They live in central Ohio with their dog, Oscar. Alex loves doing home renovations and yard work. He hopes to get the outdoor kitchen completed over the summer as well as with the mudroom just to be able to hang his recess coat downstairs.

While Alex is busy outside, Charli is busy inside. Charli loves a clean house and cooking. He is one of those people that eat something, says he can make it better, then does.

Sometimes they just enjoy each other's company by reading in their living room, playing an escape room board game, or just watching television.

Both Charli and Alex's families live within an hour from their home. They love entertaining their friends and families in their home. When they aren't home, they are down the street at the Cafe, coming up with new coffees and platters for everyone to enjoy.

Our Promise

We know this journey has not been easy for you and we want to sincerely thank you again for the opportunity to be a part of your child's story. Our promise is to always provide a stable loving home for your child. We promise to raise your child with a support system surrounded with grandparents, aunt's, uncle's, cousins and friends that sustain deep connections and lifelong bonds.

Finally, our promise is to always honor you and the journey that brought them home to us. We promise to answer questions that arise with loving, truthful answers about their and your path to our family, and to honor themselves and their unique cultural background whatever it may be. If your desire is to know about how your child is doing and who they have become we are open to communication and to keep you part of their lives.
